Master in Public Management

(N-DL/345/7/1130)(MQA/PA15049)

Public management is about the day-to-day delivery of public services and management of key government functions. At the senior levels of the public sector, managers need to be able to make strategic decisions regarding planning, budgeting, and implementing government agendas. Doing this successfully requires a highly specific skill sets in strategic public management, public sector budgeting and finance, managerial leadership, and public policy implementation.

The Master in Public Management is specifically designed for those wishing to advance their career in the public sector. In this programme, you are exposed to hands-on training and coaching in all the different skills that a successful public manager needs to have. The emphasis is on linking the skill set to the professional analysis of a wide range of issues in the areas of public sector management, policy analysis, urban planning and development.
